The BVT* invites you to the 2nd Community-Werkstatt / October 13-15, 2023 in Hannover

– With a call for contributions to the event and the program!

This year, the BVT* Community-Werkstatt will take place for the second time. We are very excited to come together for the first time in presence! Under the theme "Community Werkstatt - Encounters and Alliances: Spaces for exchange, networking and being creative together", we cordially invite you to Hannover, October 13-15, 2023, at the Pavillon.

The event is open to all trans*, non-binary and gender nonconforming people. For everybody who is trans* and doesn't know the BVT yet It is also for everybody who already knows the BVT, and also for everybody who is engaged in trans*activism from an intersectional perspective.

We would especially like to welcome perspectives from individuals and communities, such as: trans* sex workers, QTBi_PoC, disabled trans* people, from rural areas, non-academic people, affected by classism, neurodivergent trans* people, younger and also older people.

The Community-Werkstatt is an event that we will shape together! We want to create spaces where different trans*communities can come together, get to know each other, exchange ideas and have a good time. Many different formats like workshops and skillsharing, playshops, networking sessions, empowerment spaces, open discussions, performances, concerts, film nights, an open mic session and much more can take place at the Community-Werkstatt.

Shape the program with us!

You can create spaces where we can come together from different trans* communities, get to know each other, exchange ideas and have fun. We would like to have spaces for BI_PoC only or trans* femme only. Furthermore, there could maybe be spaces for trans*, inter and non-binary people, "over 50" or for communities in the countryside to strengthen each other, to mention a few examples.

Here are a few more topics for inspiration, but feel more than welcome to bring your ideas beyond that! Public activism, anti-discrimination work, sexuality and self-care, trans* history, decoloniality, critical whiteness, biographical writing workshop, just to name a few possibilities. What kind of activities would you like to attend? We would love to hear about your ideas for the Community-Werkstatt!

You would like to host a workshop? If you would like to offer something as part of the Community-Werkstatt, also fill out this form. We will try to give space to as many topics and groups as possible and are looking forward to your application until April 30, 2023. Speakers will be compensated with 300€ and will be reimbursed for travel (up to 150€) and accommodation expenses (up to 120€).

We are also looking for people to support us on site in October: General support with the organization (reception, coordination, room arrangements, etc.), awareness team, DGS interpreters, English interpreters/whisper translators. You are also welcome to apply in the form for these roles. The remuneration varies depending on the activity.

In the following form (in German and English) you can tell us everything:

There will also be a get-to-know space for projects that would like to introduce themselves and present their posters, brochures & co. Projects that are not members of BVT* and work regionally are also welcome.

You want to be part of the Community-Werkstatt? Registration will start in the summer of 2023, as soon as the program is finalized. You will hear about it through all our channels.

If you have any questions or are curious about the event, feel free to email us at events@bv-trans.de.

We look forward to seeing you in the upcoming fall!

Best regards
